Comes now Northeast Missouri Long Distance, LLC , by the undersigned officer of the Company, pursuant to 47 CFR 64.2009, and hereby states that he has personal knowledge of the operating procedures of Northeast Missouri Long Distance, LLC (the Company) with respect to compliance with the FCC's Customer Proprietary Network Information Rules, and these operating procedures are adequate to ensure compliance with the CPNI rules. Accompanying Statement

Pursuant to 47 CFR 64.2009(e), Company submits this statement accompanying the above certificate.

Company is an IXC, affiliated with a small rural ILEC with 5 employees whose duties include responding to requests for information, and protecting CPNI. Company does not use CPNI for marketing purposes. Company's personnel are trained not to use CPNI for marketing purposes. Because CPNI is not used for marketing, Company has a primary safeguard for non-use of CPNI data.

Company receives relatively few requests for subscriber list information. Upon such a request Company only provides subscriber telephone numbers or addresses as are published in Company's directory.

Company provides the customer information requested by emergency service providers and emergency support service providers to the PSAP they direct.

Company receives relatively few requests for CPNI. Company does not disclose CPNI unless specifically requested by the customer. Company prefers written customer requests, but accepts verbal customer requests when Company is satisfied as to the customer's identity. Company utilizes neither an "opt in" nor an "opt out" method of obtaining customer approval for disclosure of CNPI. Company prefers situation-specific express authorizations for disclosure from the customer. Upon receipt of such authorization, Company discloses only the information authorized by the customer, and only to the entity to whom release of such information is authorized by the customer.

Company personnel are trained to adhere to these rather simple procedures, and they are trained that, in the event a customer, carrier, or other entity disputes Company systems and procedures regarding CPNI disclosures, these situations are presented to management for consideration and response, with the advice of counsel if necessary.
